Interpretation

On the record

On/Off Record and Chatham House Rule

For all other sessions, which are not open to the reporting press, please note that the Chatham House Rule applies:

When a meeting, or part thereof, is held under the Chatham House Rule, participants are free to use the information received, but neither the identity nor the affiliation of the speaker(s), nor that of any participant, may be revealed.

The rule originated at Chatham House with the aim of providing anonymity to speakers and encouraging openness and sharing of information. It is now used throughout the world as an aid to free discussion.

If you would like to quote a participant in an off-the-record session, you must get the clear and unambiguous agreement of the participant to be quoted.

The same rule applies to blogging, tweeting, videoblogging and podcasting of sessions. To encourage free-flowing debate, bloggers and twitterati are asked not to identify speakers in off-the-record sessions without their explicit permission.
