How to follow and embed our Annual Meeting 2016

Join the conversation for our Annual Meeting 2016 on social media throughout the Meeting, taking place 20 – 23 January in Davos-Klosters, Switzerland. The theme of this year’s Meeting is ‘Mastering the Fourth Industrial Revolution’.

Below you will find instructions on how to follow #wef16 via our social media channels, how to embed live broadcasts, and how to access the photographs taken during the event.

Join the conversation

Twitter

We invite you to follow the World Economic Forum on Twitter @wef, with over 2.75 million followers, as well as our live tweet account @davos where we tweet key quotes from official plenary sessions and where most of the Twitter chatter will happen.

Spanish and Japanese speakers can follow us on @wef_es and @wef_jp and Chinese speakers can get updates on Weibo and WeChat.

You can also follow our communities: Global Shapers, Technology Pioneers, Schwab Foundation and Young Global Leaders.

Twitter lists for the Annual Meeting can be found at https://twitter.com/wef/lists/davos2016 (link available as of 13 January 2016).

The official meeting hashtag is #wef16. We also have other hashtags that will be used to follow contributions around the main topics and themes of the Annual Meeting 2016:
- Food Security and Agriculture: #foodsecurity
- Environment and Resource Security: #climateaction
- Future of the Internet: #futureweb
- Longterm Investing, Infrastructure and Development: #futureinvest
- Employment, Skills and Human Capital: #newjobs
- International Trade and Investment: #globaltrade
- Gender Parity: #gendergap
- Future of the Global Financial System: #futurefinance
- Economic Growth and Social Inclusion: #equalgrowth

Facebook

'Like' us on our Facebook page, where content, news and views will be shared throughout the Annual Meeting 2016 with our 900,000 followers on http://wef.ch/facebook.

For Spanish speakers, you can also follow our Foro Económico Mundial Facebook page for content from our Spanish blog.

Google+

Follow the Annual Meeting 2016 on Google+ at http://wef.ch/gplus, which has over 2.2 million followers.

LinkedIn

Follow the Annual Meeting 2016 on our LinkedIn page at http://wef.ch/linkedin.

Youku

Session videos in Chinese will be made available on Youku
Read and share our content

Forum Agenda

During the Annual Meeting 2016, we will be publishing articles by more than 100 participants, from CEOs and industry leaders to Young Global Leaders and Global Shapers on our content platform Agenda.

You can also read expert insight and commentary in Chinese and Spanish.

You are welcome to republish articles produced by the World Economic Forum, providing you credit the Forum and link back to the original. The feed of available articles is here: http://wef.ch/republish.

Livestream

During the Annual Meeting key sessions, press conferences and interviews will be broadcast live as webcasts on http://wef.ch/am16 (the full list of webcast sessions will be available as of 13 January 2016).

Learn how to embed any of the livestream video feeds on your blog or website (link live as of 13 January 2016).

Photographs

A selection of the best pictures taken at the Annual Meeting 2016 will be made available free of charge under the creative commons licence (cc-by-sa) on Flickr (http://wef.ch/am16pix).

The complete set of photos from the Annual Meeting 2016 is also available from our official photographers, Swiss-Image (http://wef.ch/pics).

A live feed of images can be viewed or embedded on your website.