

World Economic Forum Public Engagement FAQ

Requesting an interview with a Forum expert:

Members of the media can email Interviews@weforum.org to request an interview with a Forum expert

Sign up to receive news alerts:

If you would like to receive press releases, please fill out the form here.

Connecting with the Forum:

- Agenda <https://www.weforum.org/agenda>
- Webcasts: <http://wef.ch/live>
- Follow the Forum on Twitter via @wef @davos | Instagram | LinkedIn | TikTok
- Flickr: <http://wef.ch/pix>
- Learn about the Forum's impact
- Subscribe to Forum Podcast

Republishing articles:

Original content on our Agenda blog is Creative Commons, so you may republish it on your site as long as you cite that it was originally published on the World Economic Forum and include a link. Syndicated content on Agenda (identified by a black box indicating where it was originally published) may not be republished.

Pitching article ideas:

If you are interested in submitting an idea for an Agenda blog post, please find more information and fill out the form at: <https://wef.ch/writeforagenda>

Reposting social media content:

Please feel free to retweet and share our content on any of our social media platforms.

Republishing video:

You are welcome to share or repost our videos if the video is: played in its entirety, unedited, not used in a “for-profit” manner (no advertisements on the video), appropriate credit and link back is given to the World Economic Forum. If you would like to request more information about reposting rights to one of our videos on social media, please email David Knowles at david.knowles@weforum.org

All other requests:

Our email address is: public.affairs@weforum.org